

VISIT MILWAUKEE FOR GREAT FOOD & GREAT DRINK

If you're hungry or thirsty, Milwaukee has you covered. This is a city where beer flows freely, where the farms are closer to the tables, and where upscale gourmet cuisine lives side by side with deep-fried cheese. To help you find the dining or drinking establishment that will best suit your appetites, we've created curreted lists of some of Milwaukee's best bars and restaurants. Just follow your gut, and you'll find Great spots all mapped out for you.

COMFORT FOOD

Nothing warms you up like some good ol' fashioned comfort food, and luckily, Milwaukee has you covered. Check out these local spots for some of the cheesiest, gooiest, stick-to-your-ribs-iest comfort food around.

Balzac Wine Bar

Comfort food doesn't have to be low-key. Treat yourself to Balzac Wine Bar's signature "Sac Mac," made with five cheeses and topped with bleu cheese and toasted panko bread crumbs.

Comet Café

Home style meatloaf? It's a comfort-food dream. You'll find that and more satisfying, from-scratch dishes at East Side mainstay Comet Café

Maxie's

Southern comfort is the name of the game at Maxie's, which also serves white cheddar mac n' n cheese (as a side) in addition to shrimp and grits, red beans and rice, and more.

MORE GREAT FOOD & GREAT DRINK

SOUP MARKET Milwaukee Public Market

Stop by the Milwaukee Public Market for a bowl of soup from the Soup Market. You'll find chicken noodle, chicken dumpling and a featured chili every day, plus three to six featured soups.

Onesto

The best comfort food is always made with love, and you'll be able to taste that in the pasta made from scratch daily at Onesto.

Real Chili

Originally in the basement of the Jesuit rectory on Marquette University's campus, Real Chili opened in 1931 and is still serving some of the best chili in town for lunch, dinner, and late-night breakfast, at two locations on Wells Street. It warms the heart and soul.
